The Beach Bash will support the water fund's work to promote, catalyze, and invest in nature-based solutions and practical remedies across the 440 square-mile five-county watershed that drains into Lake Monroe. Our key focus areas include planting native vegetation/trees, minimizing fertilizer use, and boosting homeowners' ability to prevent or fix leaking septic systems.

Because sufficient quantities of clean water underpin optimum human health, sustainable food production, a robust local economy, and the integrity of natural systems, our work is critical now and for future generations.

The Lake Monroe Water Fund is one of approximately 43 water funds sparked by The Nature Conservancy across the world to meet local freshwater needs. Incorporated as a 501c(3) nonprofit organization in 2021, we are the first water fund in Indiana and support projects upstream of Lake Monroe Reservoir that help preserve it as Bloomington's sole source of drinking water, a world-class recreation destination, and a critical wildlife habitat.
